

DR. WILLIAMS HONOR GUEST AT N. Y. DINNER

Alumni of Metropolis Greet
University Dean—Attendance as Great as February Meeting.

"MISSOURI" IS TO PICK

Homer Croy Is Toastmaster—Members of Club Name Oscar E. Rily for Next President.

Dean Walter Williams was guest of honor, and led the discussion on the subject "Missouri," at a dinner given by the New York alumni of the University at the New York Advertising Club March 23. Like the dinner given in February to President Jones and R. L. Hill there was a record attendance. More than sixty were present.

Homer Croy, toastmaster, is called by the alumni the greatest lover the State of Missouri possesses east of the Mississippi and Dean Williams is said by some to hold the same title west of the Mississippi. The consensus of opinion following the dinner was that they had made a convincing demonstration of the fact that Missouri is the best state inside or outside the Union.

Bide Dudley, formerly of St. Joseph and Kansas City, but now the humorous paragrapher of the New York Evening World, contrasted the salaries of the old days with those exacted from publishers today, and told how he made the momentous decision, after working six months, that he wouldn't work an entire year before getting a day off. He related, in a lighter vein, that Missouri, Minnesota and Kansas all claim him as a native son, so that he gets occasional dinners from the society folk from all those states, the last dinner being from the Kansas Society folk (apologies to Merton Gill).

Glenn H. Frank, editor of the Century Magazine, told of his life in a town boasting 184 Missourians in the last four censuses. Then, seriously, he depicted in glowing fashion the path to be trod by journalists in the great task of improving the quality of democracy.

Louis A. Springer, editorial writer for the New York Herald and formerly of the Kansas City Journal, told of the loyalty of Missourians toward the great Missouri River and how one man whom he met on the Kaysee bluff blamed the flooding of the Missouri bottom farms on a creek called the Kaw. He also read paragraphs from Missouri, Arkansas and Kansas, showing that the first group had a characteristic flavor all their own, favoring particularly of homely philosophy.

Walter G. Bryan said that among the famous journalists from Missouri is William Randolph Hearst formerly of Randolph County, Mo., but now of New York. Bryan also told of studying at the University of Missouri.

Following the talks, President Croy sprang a surprise, namely, that the time for another election of officers had rolled around and before the alumni had recovered from their surprise they discovered that they had a new set of officers, viz, Oscar E. Riley, president; Mrs. Glenn H. Frank, vice president, and F. C. Freeman, secretary.

Those present were: Misses Ruth Higginbottom, Osta B. Feurt, Leta Fairbairn, Eleanor C. Bedford, Icie F. Johnson, Ida A. Jewett, Mary E. McDaniel, Leontine Ginter, Isabel Johnson, Claire Ginsberg, Mary Margaret McBride, Marian S. Palmer, D. E. Hudson, G. Alexander Hope, O. G. Carpenter, Paul

H. Arthur, Carter Alexander, M. D. Hinton, W. B. Pettus, Anna Rhodes, Oland D. Russell, O. E. Saylor, Jackson V. Scholz, Thomas R. Tate, H. P. Marley, Earl A. Martin, W. Ross Slaughter, Burton Thompson, Harry King Tootle, J. F. Walmsley, F. C. Freeman, W. F. Switzer, W. E. Resor, M. S. King, Dean Kirkensage, Mrs. Wright Johnson, Mrs. Leontine Ginter, Mrs. Rosa Martin Hammond, Miss Klepper, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Craig, M. and Mrs. Homer Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Handy, Mr. and Mrs. Walden E. Muns, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Oehm, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Russell S. Sims, and guests of Misses Jewett and Fairbairn.

"Oh wad some power the giftie gie us,
To see oursel's as ithers see us."

Write yourself a letter—It may be you are so familiar with your business stationery that it is impossible for you to judge the impression upon others.

The best way to find out is to dictate a letter to yourself, sign it and let it go out in regular fashion. A day or so later you will receive it, creased and stamped, bearing the same marks of service your other letters bear, when they reach your correspondents.

The chances are you will receive it with a batch of others; come upon it unexpectedly, and thus receive its impression with an open mind.

The idea is worth a trial. It may give you a totally fresh viewpoint.

The other fellow's way of seeing a thing is always worth getting.

HERE'S WHY

Haphazard, hit-or-miss methods result in haphazard, hit-or-miss results. Well balanced plans result in well balanced results. There is a certain amount of thinking incident to the formulation of a rational plan of action. Thinking is harder than manual labor and is distasteful to many persons.

By seriously considering a means of solution a problem automatically becomes clearly defined.

Then, support the man who has put serious thought to the problems of student government and who offers you a concrete plan for its betterment.

More and Better Light

FOR more than 30 years the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been a big refiner of kerosene oil.

During all this time there has been a steady improvement in the quality of its product. This improvement has been more marked in the past ten or fifteen years during which time the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has developed methods of manufacturing to eliminate the danger of lamp explosions.

While the kerosene has been improved the devices for using it have remained unchanged.

Recognizing the fact that the users of Perfection Kerosene were unable to get a maximum service from the oil they burned, and realizing that the failure was due not to the oil but to the devices, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) set its experts to work to find a better burner and a more efficient chimney.

These men, working with the manufacturers of burners and chimneys, have succeeded in developing devices which increased largely the efficiency of the oil.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) does not sell lamps. But it believes that the users of lamps should be informed as to how to get the best results from the kerosene they use.

To accomplish this result this Company is distributing sixty thousand of the new burners and chimneys to dealers handling kerosene that they may demonstrate to their patrons how to get the most light from Perfection Kerosene by using appliances correctly designed.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has arranged with leading chimney manufacturers to stamp chimneys made in accordance with the design and specifications with the following trade mark:

This is but one of the many ways in which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) seeks to increase the efficiency of the service it is rendering the people of the territory it serves.
